

MANPOWER LOSS ON FARMS GREAT CRISIS, HE CLAIMS

Senator Caraway Declares
Nation Faces Agricultural Suicide.

TWO LEGISLATIVE REMEDIES OFFERED

Food Shortage Will Result
From Emigration From Farms He Warns.

Washington, June 13—America is facing agriculture suicide as a result of the loss of man power on her farms, Senator T. H. Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas, declared today in urging governmental action to remedy the situation.

Unless the emigration from farms is stopped, Caraway warned, the nation will face a "stunning food shortage" within five years. He asserted he would sponsor remedial legislation in the next congress.

"Fully five million persons will leave the farms this summer to find new places in the cities," Caraway said. "More than three million emigrated from the farms last year. Every one who has gone from farm to city is a magnet drawing hundreds of others. Unless this emigration is halted, there will be stunning food shortages within five years and our farms will be idle."

Caraway proposed two legislative remedies for the situation:

- 1—Admit sufficient emigrants to settle and operate all farms; or
- 2—Provide a living wage for farm workers insuring them an adequate compensation for their products.

A National Problem
"The farmer's problem has become a national problem, affecting the people living in cities even more than those remaining on the farms," Caraway continued. "Food is comparatively cheap now but once production is seriously reduced on our farms, food prices will soar. If we let the farmer alone, he will solve his own problem but at a frightful cost to the public."

"This wave of emigration will drain the farms until agricultural products become so scarce, the selling price will guarantee a wage for farmers equal to that of workers in the city. Then the movement back to the farms will start but when that time comes, there will be a serious food shortage and many people will be unable to buy food. I believe food prices will rise four or five times their present values unless some remedy is worked out now."

The emigration, Caraway said, was started by farm youths who envied the $8 to $12 a day jobs of their city brothers.

"Their sisters followed them too, and will continue to take the road leading to the city," he added. "The girls hate the monotony of farm life and desire the brightly colored life of the cities. They also have won a new independence and long to be self-supporting wage earners."

BOY SCOUT CAMP MAY BE PURCHASED

Rotarians View Farm Under Option For Permanent Scout Home.

Salem Rotarians held their weekly meeting Tuesday noon on the grounds of the Bunker Hill church, enjoying a picnic lunch and later in inspecting the grove on the Goddard farm near the church which has been optioned as a possible site for a permanent home for Boy Scout activities.

Scout Commissioner Lee R. Chamberlain explained that the 12 or 13 acres which it is proposed to buy would be used for all Scout activities, moving the Rotary hall from the Atkinson farm and providing for summer camps for all troops. A stream flows through the land and it is proposed to build a dam to provide a pond large enough for swimming. The camp would be used for week-end visits throughout the winter as well as the summer.

No decision was reached by the Rotarians but President F. J. Emery appointed a committee to consult with the boys work committee and be prepared to offer Tuesday afternoon to the club next Tuesday.

President Emery announced that he would be unable to attend the international convention June 13-22, at St. Louis and the club elected Sec'y, R. W. Hawley delegate and Past President J. S. Alan alternate.

Community Building For Wooster College

Wooster, June 13—A gift of $50,000 from D. F. Babcock of Phelps, N. Y., the nucleus of a $200,000 fund to build a community building for Wooster college, was announced by President Charles Wishart at commencement here today.

Chicago Girl Must Pay Jilted Man

Miss Leona Voris of Chicago

A jury of married men has decided that Miss Leona Voris of Chicago must pay Lee H. Stiles, whom she jilted, $1,000 for the engagement ring he gave her. Stiles, a wealthy club member, paid that sum to Mrs. Voris for her engagement ring, which the daughter expressed a desire to use as her own engagement signet.

Salem Finance Co. Declares Dividend

At the monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Salem Finance and Discount Co. there was declared a dividend of 2 per cent on the common stock and the regular 3 1/2 per cent semi-annual dividend on the preferred. The report of the company for the first five months of the year showed sufficient earnings to pay all dividends and set aside a liberal sum to surplus.

The policy of the company seems to be to create a surplus fund to take care of its needs without impairing the dividends in the future.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ELECT OFFICERS

Frank R. Aiken Is Elected
Commander At Meeting
Tuesday Night.

The annual election of officers marked a meeting of Salem commandery No. 42, Knights Templar, Tuesday night. Those elected are:

Eminent commander, Frank Aiken; generalissimo, Harold C. England; captain general, Frank Eckstein; senior warden, James H. Campbell; junior warden, John H. Hincliffe; prelate, Dr. T. T. Church; treasurer, D. W. Davis; recorder, Phil Chancellor; standard bearer, George R. Harroff; sword bearer, H. L. McCarthy; warder, Elmer Detweiler, trustee for three years, D. E. Mather.

These officers were installed Tuesday night by H. W. Young and D. E. Mather. On June 19 and 22 special meetings of the commandery will be held for the purpose of conferring degree work.

Thomas Is Graduated From Dana Institute

James Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Thomas of this city, was one of the soloists at the graduates' recital Tuesday evening at Dana Musical Institute. Warren, Mr. Thomas has been gaining wide recognition for his ability as a violinist and his instructors predict a bright future for him in the musical world. His selection Tuesday night was "Souspir de Bellini (Bellini)."

Among those who attended the recital were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stoner, Samuel Krauss and children, Martha and Samuel Jr., all of Salem; and Mrs. Thomas Tierney and daughters, Edna and Dorothy, of Pittsburg.

Young People Plan Convention Program

When members of the Edna Thomas Missionary society met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Carl Yengling, Buckeye ave., plans were made for young people's evening at the annual Canton district convention of the Methodist Women's Foreign Missionary society, June 28 and 29, at the local church. This will be Thursday evening with a banquet and a story telling contest features.

This society gave $10 toward the linen for furnishing Camp Wesleyan at Lakeside.

Miss Ella Stamp gave a review of a chapter from the book, "Building With India."

STILL FOUND, OWNER RELEASED ON BOND

Police Raid Mike Herbert's
Home On Georgetown
Rd. Tuesday.

Mike Herbert, living on the Georgetown road, is at liberty under bond of $200 for his appearance before Mayor John W. Post at 7 p. m. Thursday to answer to a charge of possessing implements to manufacture liquor illegally.

Herbert's arrest followed finding of a 20-gallon still and a quantity of wine at his home Tuesday afternoon by a squad of Salem officers. The raiding party was made up of Chief of Police T. W. Thompson, Officers Gray and Bryn and Firemen Lewis and Yarwood.

The still was found near the home but neither liquor nor mash could be located. A quantity of wine was found of which a sample was taken. A still not in operation constitutes implements for the manufacture of liquor under terms of the prohibition law.

COLUMBIANA ROADS IN STATE PROGRAM

Columbus, June 13.—Road maintenance and road contracts covering 58.75 miles of highway at an estimated cost of $4,238,334.56 and contracts for 87.54 miles of road construction, estimated to cost $2,993,036.56, are to be let June 22 by State Highway Director Herrick.

The construction projects include:

- Athens-Pomeroy rd., Athens county, 1,532 miles, estimated cost, brick, $208,754.93; reinforced concrete $395,818.44; bituminous macadam $263,529.94.

- Wellsville-Salineville rd., Columbiana county, 1,532 miles, plain concrete, estimated cost $62,243.57.

- Youngstown-Lisbon rd., Mahoning county, 2,790 miles, brick, estimated cost $76,602.65.

- Niles-Ashtabula rd., Trumbull county, 1,38 miles, estimated cost, bituminous macadam $38,799.62, reinforced concrete $43,694.33.

The maintenance and repair projects include: A concrete bridge on the Lisbon-Salineville rd., Columbiana county, estimated cost $11,660.30.

FLOOD MENACING AS DAM CRUMBLES

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 13—A new flood menace loomed here today when reports from the city dam and reservoir stated that earthworks were crumbling away and that quick action was necessary to save the concrete. Should the concrete work break at the present stage of the North Canadian river, officials said serious damage would amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars would be inevitable.

The action brought by H. W. Louden against Mark Miller and others to secure a commission alleged to be due for the sale of oil property near Tomeworth, was decided Wednesday morning when the jury in common pleas court brought in a verdict awarding Louden $1250, the full amount claimed for acting as broker in the sale of the property.

COLD RUN WATER PROJECT SUBMITTED BY COUNCIL AS PERMANENT SOLUTION

HOW CITY COUNCIL WOULD SOLVE WATER PROBLEM

Build a dam, filtration plant and pumping station on Cold run, seven miles south of Salem, at a cost of approximately $300,000.

Pump this filtered water directly into the mains from Cold run and hold the Roosevelt ave. pumping station in reserve for emergency use only.

Without the closing and rebuilding of the present earth dam on Cold run, 1,000,000 gallons can be pumped daily (on an average) from this stream from its direct flow.

The proposal has the full sanction of the state board of health through its chief engineer, W. H. Dittoe.

The cost will be about $2 per thousand for each taxpayer.

A bond issue for $300,000 will be submitted for the approval of the voters at the primary election in August.

Americans In China Demand Protection

Act To End "Intolerable"

Sec'y. Hughes.

Peking, June 13.—Withstanding until noon today the military pressure that has been brought to bear to force his resignation, President Li Yuan Hung at 1:20 this afternoon departed on a special train for Tientsin, accompanied only by the vice minister of war, one other member of his old cabinet and 30 soldiers as a guard.

His departure was preceded by a strong threat from the Christian general Feng Jui-Siang who requested his immediate departure from Peking.

Complete occupation of the city by General Feng's troops is expected at any moment. The city remains quiet.

W. R. C. TO ATTEND FLAG DAY EXERCISES

Women Also Plan To Attend
State Encampment At Columbus.

The Woman's Relief corps will attend the Flag day exercises Thursday evening at the Elks home in a body. The members will assemble at 7:30 that evening at the corner of Garfield ave. and Main st. These arrangements were made at the Tuesday evening session of the corps at G. A. R. hall, Broadway, which was marked by an unusually large attendance.

An invitation was accepted from Philip Triem camp No. 43, Sons of Veterans, to a picnic July 8 at Eagletown glens.

Plans were considered for attending the state department encampment, which opens Monday, June 25, at Columbus for a four days session. Mrs. Oliver Zimmerman is the delegate and Mrs. Samuel West alternate. Other members who are planning to attend are: Mrs. Sara Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Dora Bentley, Mrs. Cora Schwartz, Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, Mrs. Viola Ollip, Mrs. Laura Garside, Mrs. W. L. Fultz and Mrs. Leonard Crossley.

COUNTY SCHOOLS TO GRADUATE 275

Owing to the fact that the Lisbon fair grounds are not in a condition to entertain the annual eight grade commencement of the rural schools County Superintendent Moore has arranged to have the annual event held in the Methodist church at Lisbon at 1 p. m. Friday, June 22.

In addition to the commencement, the county declamation contest, in which prizes are offered by Charles Speaker will be sought, will be part of the program.

The class numbering 275 young people will be addressed by Dr. Battelle McCarthy, pastor of first M. E. church of Alliance, and certificates of graduation will be presented by Judge L. T. Farr.

Program Given By Greenford Grange

Several applications for membership were received when members of Greenford grange met Tuesday evening in regular session. This program was given: Roll call, answered by naming a product on the farm; reading, Mildred Cobourn; piano solo, May Stahl; discussion, "Side Line Work for the Farmer," opened by A. G. Cobourn; piano solo, Hazel Calvin.

Tuesday evening, June 19, this grange will put on the lecture hour at Dublin grange, Canfield. The juvenile grange will present the program at the lecture hour in two weeks.

Bond Issue Of $300,000 Will Go Before Voters In August

Council Outlines Plan To Build Dam, Pumping Station And Filtration Plant Seven Miles South Of City; Would Require Three Years To Complete Project.

A permanent solution for Salem's water problem has been reached by city council.

This solution will be presented to the voters of the city at the primary election in August for their approval or rejection.

This was the announcement made at the conference Tuesday evening between city council and representatives of various churches, lodges and civic organizations when the program outlined by the solons was presented for the first time to the general public.

The program calls for an expenditure of approximately $300,000. It calls for a surface supply of water as the only adequate and permanent supply that can be secured by the city.

The proposal contemplates erection of a pumping station and filtration plant at Cold Run from where the filtered water would be, for the present, pumped directly into the mains and the holding of the Roosevelt ave. pumping station in reserve for emergency only.

Seven Miles South of City
Cold Run is a branch of the middle fork of the Little River, rising behind the German home on the Winona rd. and flowing in a southwesterly direction to the middle fork just west of Gavers.

The site of the proposed dam is seven miles south of Salem and just east of the Depot rd. where there is located an old earth dam built in 1846 by the Sandy Valley & Beaver Canal Co., and abandoned by them in 1857.

The cost of this project has been placed at $2 per thousand for each taxpayer, and it is estimated that it will require three years to complete the work, with five years to complete the final steps.

This proposal was presented by council through Service Director John Bristol who gave a detailed report of council's activities in attempting to secure a pure and adequate water supply for the city. He told of the financial condition and of the plans for reducing a large proportion of the cost through this plan.

B. L. Flick, president of council, presided at the meeting which was attended by nearly 60 representatives of the various organizations.

Many Questions Asked
Numerous opinions were expressed on the proposal and on other proposals submitted to city council. The various flaws in the other projects were pointed out by Director Bristol, and he was asked numerous questions with regard to the proposed plan.

The spirit of the meeting pointed to an early settlement of the water problems here. Informal expressions at the close of the meeting favored voters at the primary election when council's proposal.

The decision will be given by the voters at the primary election when council will request a bond issue to cover the cost of the project.

The meeting held Tuesday evening is one of a number resident and voter of the city will be asked to attend in order that they may be afforded every means of having the proposal thoroughly explained.

Various expressions were received from representatives at the conference. The main feature was the report of Director Bristol who explained thoroughly the proposals submitted to council and of the investigations made in each case.

Question of Finances
The question of finance is an important one in this question. This project contemplated an expenditure of approximately $300,000 but after thorough investigation it was decided that certain phases in connection with this project could be safely eliminated at this time. This elimination would result in a reduction of about $150,000.

After due consideration it has been decided that the expenditures necessary for a safe and ample water supply through this project can be supplied through the following expenditures: Laying of pipe line directly from dam site connecting at Mill st with present system of distribution, $175,000; pumping station and filtration plant, $80,000; small breast at dam site and pipe line to filters, $19,000; land necessary to build completion which should be bought at this time, $20,000, making a total of $294,000, or in round figures, $300,000.

The initial estimate which was revised owing to the city's financial condition included the following expenditures: Land, $30,000; to close and rebuild dam, $100,000; pumping station and filtration plant, $30,000; pipe line to Salem, $175,000; road changes, clearing and grubbing, $20,000; distribution reservoir, $60,000, making a total of $475,000.

First Cost Reduced
With the elimination of road changes which will not be needed if the dam is not closed and rebuilt, a reduction of $130,000 would be effected at this time. By pumping into the mains direct from Cold Run and holding the Roosevelt ave. pumping station in reserve a reduction of $60,000 would be effected.

A careful study of the stream made during one year's time by Service Director John Bristol shows that Cold Run can be expected to pump 1,000,000 gallons of water daily directly from the flow without the new dam for at least ten months of every year. An average of 1,000,000 gallons is the present daily consumption and should the stream fail to produce during short periods of the year the necessary 1,000,000 gallons, the present pumping station and wells are to be held in reserve and used at these times until such time as the dam and distribution reservoir has been completed.

In addition to this there is at least one flowing well close to the site of Cold Run and it is likely that several flowing wells could be drilled, this meaning that the final step could be postponed for several years, or until the city was in a better financial condition, Director Bristol reported.

Other Proposals
The decision on the Cold Run project was made by council after lengthy investigations. It was one of a number of solutions proposed at various times, one of which was the proposition of erecting a dam and filtration plant and pumping station on the upper Mahoning river at North Georgetown. This would have necessitated a greater expenditure of money with a chance of legal action by the cities of Alliance, Warren and Youngstown, which might have resulted in a total loss to the city, according to council's report.

Council is of the opinion that other proposals calling for erection of either a steel tank or a concrete reservoir did not reach the solution as they but filled the need of a storage place without having found the supply of water to fill these reservoirs.

The Cold Run project is the work of Chief Engineer W. H. Dittoe of the state department of health who came to Salem at the request of city council some months ago to discuss the water question and endeavor to assist council in reaching a permanent solution.

The greater part of the work with regard to Cold Run was made by Service Director John Bristol and City Engineer B. M. French, together with city council.

City's Financial Condition
In offering his report on the water situation Director Bristol declared that Salem has never had an adequate water supply, and that the slogan of the present city council has been "solve the water problem for Salem."

"The answer to the question 'why has not council done something on the water question?' is strictly a matter of finances," said Director Bristol. "What I am trying to bring out here is this, the amount needed to complete this project is $300,000; the amount council has to pay for this is $325,000, or $175,000 less than is needed. Our cloth will not cut the suit."

In closing his report Director Bristol made an urgent plea that the people of Salem get behind council in this effort to provide the permanent solution to the water question.

"Council and myself believe the plan as laid before you is the best one to solve the water problem that could possibly be devised under the circumstances. It is up to the voters to say whether they want a pure and adequate water supply that will last this city for many years to come."

"The cost to the tax payers will amount to about $2 per thousand. You voted the same amount for good roads two years ago and what benefit have you received? This will be of the greatest benefit to you," the director declared.

Director Bristol estimates that it will require about five years to give Salem a pure and adequate water supply. It will take two years to complete the final steps, he declared.

LEONARD HEADS COUNTY SCHOOLS

Minerva Man, Former County
Assistant, To Succeed
Supt. J. W. Moore.

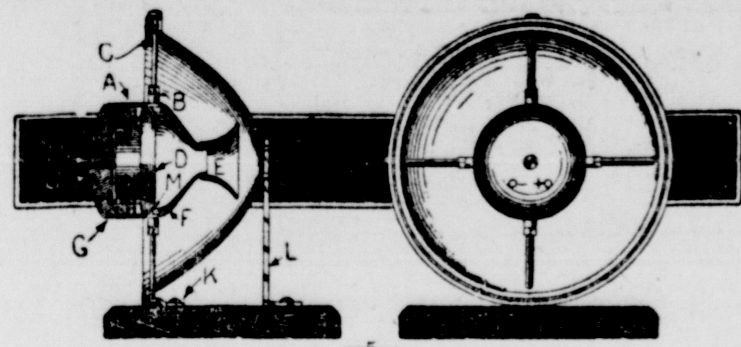

Lisbon, June 13.—H. C. Leonard, superintendent of schools of Minerva, was elected county superintendent of schools at a special session of the county board of education held here Monday afternoon. This became known today, with Leonard's acceptance.

The petition was tendered Leonard contingent upon his release by the board of education of Minerva, where he has been located for the last four years.

Leonard was formerly employed in this county as an assistant to J. W. Moore, county superintendent of schools. The vacancy he is to fill was created by Moore's acceptance of the position of superintendent of schools at East Palestine. Moore will quit his county work August 1.

HOW TO MAKE A SOUND INTENSIFIER

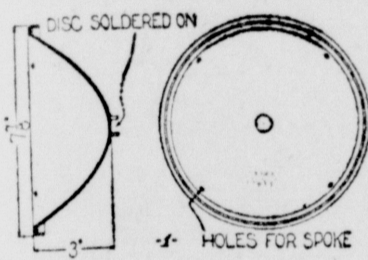

The Assembled Intensifier, Showing Parts; Can Be Made From Discarded Reflector of Automobile Light.

The pork packer is said to make use of every part of a hog except the squeal and the curl in his tail. Some of the radio experimenters make use of the squeal.

The following describes a useful piece of apparatus for the radio amateur, constructed at a low cost. All the material can be readily procured for practically nothing at some motor garage.

At a friend's garage and in the junk box was discovered a discarded front light reflector from an automobile, an old aluminum commutator from it, a broken rubber bulb from a motor horn and some motorcycle spokes with nipples attached. These were obtained free of cost and brought home.

The first procedure was to clean off all grease from the reflector. The flat flange at the broad end of the reflector was next cut off and the surface made smooth. This left the two beads on the edge as the finish. The hole in the center of the reflector, through which the socket of the lamp passed, had a small flat disk of copper soldered in. The re-factor was next polished inside and silver plated, and the outside was enameled black. Four holes were drilled equidistant through the reflector edge, into which holes the spokes fitted. This finished the reflector (see Diagram No. 1). The commutator was taken apart and the aluminum shell cleaned, and then the lug was cut off. The oiler was next removed and the hole from which it was taken was countersunk inside and outside, and in this hole a plug of soft aluminum was fitted and riveted over so as to fill up the hole. All roughness, both outside and inside, was removed with a file and scraper. A block of wood was then turned on the lathe to fit into the broad end of commutator casing. The outside of the commutator was turned smooth and a hole bored in the end of the cone; this was turned out, leaving a thin tube projecting. Four equidistant holes were bored near the broad end of the cone on the flat surface of the commutator, into which the spoke nipples fitted and were countersunk on the inside to suit the heads of the spoke nipples and these were filed flat, so that when in place the surface inside the commutator shell would be smooth. Four equidistant holes were bored one-quarter of an inch from the flat edge of the shell (to take four small screws) and countersunk on the outside.

The nipples were removed from the old spokes and were cleaned and polished. The spokes were cut off exactly 2 1/2 inches long from the threaded end; a small washer was fitted on the other end and the end of spoke riveted over and the two sweated together neatly. They were then copper-plated and silvered, like the reflector; four spokes were required (see Diagram No. 3).

Next a strip of stout sheet brass was cut, as shown, and holes were bored for screws. A large hole was made to take the projection of the reflector, to which it was soldered when assembled (see Diagram No. 4).

The old horn bulb was cleaned well with gasoline and was left ready to cut to the proper length when the complete apparatus was ready to assemble.

See Diagram No. 5 for sketch of apparatus when assembled; the letters indicate the various parts.

A.—Screws holding wooden block and commutator shell together.

B.—Nipples of spokes holding commutator shell central with reflector.

C.—Spokes passing through reflector and commutator shell.

D.—Earpiece of telephone receiver.

E.—Piece of rubber bulb as sound reflector conveyor to reflector.

F.—Commutator shell.

G.—Wooden block fitted into commutator shell, in which telephone is fitted.

H.—Adjusting screw to press receiver against rubber washer M.

J.—Holes for waves from telephone receiver.

K.—Holding down clip for front of reflector.

L.—Brass standard screwed to base and soldered to reflector.

M.—Rubber ring made from inner tube of motor tire.

The arrangement for using the old aluminum commutator shell for holding the telephone receiver can also be applied in a different manner. If the wooden block is turned flat it could be screwed to the top of the radio cabinet and a large horn fitted on the small end of the commutator shell as amplifier. If a number of holes were drilled in the side of the cone and the holes tapped to take 3/8-inch brass pipe, it could then be fitted with rubber tubes, which could be fitted with earpieces of glass tubing and used by a number of persons.

Part of the brass knob taken from a bed or a door could be used instead of rubber.

Procure a telephone receiver, the diameter of the cover of which is less than that of the inside of a commutator shell which is two and thirteen-sixteenths inches. The depth from the face of the earpiece to the back of the telephone does not matter much, as a wooden case must now be made to fit inside of the commutator shell; in this wooden case, part is turned out to hold the rest of the receiver. A rubber ring is put inside the commutator shell and the earpiece rests against it. The wooden case is then put in place and with the commutator shell it is held firmly by four screws. An adjusting screw at the end of the wooden case presses the earpiece tightly against the rubber ring and makes an airtight joint. The connections can be brought out through the wooden case of flexible cable, or otherwise, to suit the maker. Diagrams of each part are shown, as well as of the assembled instrument. When all parts are ready, proceed to assemble as follows: Take commutator shell reflector and four spokes; pass a spoke from the outside of the reflector into a hole in the commutator shell and screw on the nipple; do the same with the other spokes. The shell is then held in the center of the reflector with the narrow end pointing towards the polished face of the reflector. Tighten up the nipples evenly until the shell is rigid, with no wobble or shake. The piece of rubber horn bulb is cut so that there is a space between it and the face of the reflector when slipped over the end of the commutator shell opening. The brass strip is slipped on the outside and fastened to a neat wooden base. The edge of the reflector or rests on the wooden base and is held down tight by a screw and clip. When the reflector is fixed on the base, the brass strip can be soldered to the back of the reflector. When the telephones are inserted, the block placed in position, screwed tight and the back adjusting screw tightened up, all is then complete to connect up to the set.

THE NUISANCE

THE other night, not feeling bright, I thought at home I'd stay; I'd rest a bit and get more fit to meet a busy day. "I'll take a look at some good book, and smoke a pipe," I said; "an easy chair, some solitude, at ten I'll be in bed."

The chaps who miss a night like this, I thought, need sympathy; the old "white way" is nice and gay, but not tonight for me. I like to go to some good show, then have a little spree; they're fun all right, but for tonight that's not the life for me. Alas for plans! It is not man's to have things as he will; my eye of rest was far from blessed, 'twas but a bitter pill. Planned for delight, my restless night was destined for a blow; for through the air came blank despair from someone's radio.

It had a horn a kid should scorn, reception amplified; it sang and talked and screeched and squawked, 'twas midnight ere it died. Some chap was vain to entertain the whole community; for four straight hours 'twas "April showers" or some rag melody.

My friend, go slow with radio; outside your home may be some tired-out chap who'd like a nap, to from all jazz be free. Don't try to drown the whole damned town; the things that are your joys, to someone's ear perhaps appear as just UNWELCOME NOISE.

Says Congress Will Pass Compensation Bill.

Senator Holm C. Bursum, Republican, who succeeds Senator Albert Fall as one of New Mexico's representatives in the senate, has predicted the enactment by the next congress of the billion-dollar adjusted compensation bill. He has announced that the bonus fight in behalf of America's four million World War veterans will be waged from a new angle—that of legality. Bursum, chairman of the senate pension committee, declared that America contracted a "legal obligation" by forcing its soldiers to pay their own insurance and in requiring forced allotments during the war, and cited state compensation acts in support of his contention.

Ask for Large Sum.

Something like $925,000 is required to establish women's colleges at Oxford, and while women have been taking advantage of the educational opportunities offered there, no women's colleges have yet been possible. The London Times in an editorial calls attention to the fact that many of the endowments have been made by women and that "piety" never lacking in the national character, should inspire all those who have had the advantage of such endowments to help the good cause of the "women's colleges" at Oxford. It is hard times in England and it is not easy to raise such a large sum, although the editorial asserts that "no one in theory grudges the money, or would deny a university education to as many women as are worthy of it."

Harvard university in Radcliffe college has long had a woman's college of which it is justly proud.

Rain-Making Not Feasible.

Rain-making is a futile undertaking, according to the weather bureau, United States Department of Agriculture. To produce one inch of rainfall over an area of one acre, approximately 113 tons of moisture would have to be drawn up into the air and then precipitated. There are 640 acres in a square mile, for which 72,320 tons of moisture would be required. A square mile, however, would be scarcely a dot in the center of any section where drought prevails, as in Arizona or parts of Texas. It would be less than one-seventh of the area of the District of Columbia.

COURT RULES OUT STEPTOE GAS ACT

Columbus, June 13.—Decision of the United States supreme court that the West Virginia "Steptoe act" is unconstitutional, affects nearly every large city in Ohio and approximately half the Ohio consumers of natural gas.

The law, passed by the West Virginia legislature in 1919, provided that no natural gas should be exported or piped from the state into adjoining states until every domestic demand has been filled.

Immediately after passage of the bill, the Ohio general assembly adopted a resolution directing Atty. Gen. Price to institute proceedings to have the bill declared unconstitutional because it endangered Ohio's natural gas supply.

Had the constitutionality of the bill been upheld, it would have enabled West Virginia to prevent the sending of any natural gas whatsoever into Ohio until every demand in that state had been supplied.

Advice Was Disastrous.

He was a newly admitted member of the ranks of married men and after having behaved himself for a period long enough to cause amazement to all those who had known him in the old days he broke out. He was on his way home very much under the weather and growing more timid as his street neared, says a New York Sun writer. "What'll I do?" he asked thickly of his companion in crime, a veteran benedict.

"Throw your hat in first," said the old-timer. "If it comes out, beat it; if not, follow it in."

The advice was acted upon literally and now the newly admitted member and the old veteran are on the outs. The hat flung into the dining room landed on the table, broke two glasses, split a bottle of catsup on the floor and ruined the carpet, upset the table oil lamp and almost set fire to the house.

Says Mothers Need Outside Interest

"Every mother should have an outside interest." So says Mrs. Katherine Bouton Clay of Newark, N. J., mother of three children, who has received an A. B. degree from Barnard college, New York—the first woman of her position and years to attain such an honor. She performed her seemingly impossible task of doing housework and earning a college degree—after ten years of devotion to her family—by utilizing every spare moment, doing most of her studying on subway trains. Mrs. Clay now plans to try for higher honors, she has stated.

A Girl Who Waited 25 Years

By MYRA C. LANE

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

He certainly was voluble, the rather shabby, middle-aged man in the compartment, but then, again, he was interesting. He had been over all the world, made and lost four fortunes, and now was coming back to his home town after an absence of 25 years with a modest competence.

"And, boys," he said, "I'm up against the greatest problem of my life."

We all looked at him with renewed interest. We had been a little bit bored by his account of the habits of the Puma-Puma Islanders; likewise by his story of the shark and the cuttlefish.

"When I left Linstock—that's the station after next—there was I need hardly tell you, a girl. I was a young fellow of twenty-five, and she was two and twenty. We were in love. We'd always cared for each other, and we'd sworn that so long as we lived there never should be any one else for either of us. I'm going back absolutely confident that that girl, if she lives, and lives there, is still waiting for me."

"That's what I'd call an optimist," said the fat drummer. "The girl doesn't live who—"

"No, nor oughtn't to, neither," whispered the man in the gray felt hat. "The selfish old hog! He seems to think that after grasping the world for a quarter of a century he's coming home to find that Griselida's been waiting for him all through the marrying years of her life. I just hope she's married to a stock broker and has three sets of twins."

"Of course, you realize that your expectation is not according to human nature," put in the man who looked like a book-agent.

"Gentlemen," began the middle-aged man, "I know what I'm talking about. We stop half an hour at Linstock, and as her house is about 50 yards from the railroad line, I invite you all to get out and accompany me there. This here station's Alma Linstock's the next."

"What are your grounds for this belief?" inquired the man with the purple tie.

"Why, she swore always to be true to me," answered the middle-aged man.

"Has your experience of life taught you that a woman's word is usually to be relied on in such matters?" inquired the man with the gray felt hat.

"Gentlemen, frankly, no!" answered the middle-aged man. "But this girl's different. If she hasn't been true to me, then all my faith in womanhood is blasted."

"The infernal impudence of him!" whispered the man in the purple tie. "Ah, well, we'll see what we shall see," said the man, who looked like a book agent.

"Linstock!" sang out the conductor. The train was slowing down. It was a large village, a junction, and there would be at least half an hour's stop waiting for the limited to pass. As the train drew up there was a simultaneous hasty move toward the door.

"Poor cuss!" whispered the man in the gray felt hat.

"Say, if I'd as much faith as that I'd be manager of the district east of the Mississippi," muttered the drummer. "Must have been taking a faith course, that guy must!"

The middle-aged man solemnly led the party out of the depot. They made their way down the untidy street toward a row of neat, but aged cottages sheltering in the shadow of some lofty elms. The middle-aged man turned and waited to gather in the party.

"The old cottage," he said, pointing to the second from the end of the row. "Not pulled down. I knew it wouldn't be."

As they approached it the sound of infantile screaming within was borne upon the slight breeze. The drummer grinned.

"Seems to me," he said, "our friend's hopes are doomed to be busted." "If she'd married she wouldn't be living there," objected the man in the purple tie.

"Might have come home for a visit," objected the man in the gray felt hat.

"Gentlemen," said the middle-aged man, "she swore that she'd be waiting for me at the gate—and there she is."

We stared. A pretty, faded-looking woman of about forty-two was leaning on the gate, looking at us. The middle-aged man ran forward and clasped her in his arms.

"Darling, I've come back to you!"

"I knew you would, darling," she replied.

They were kissing, actually kissing each other, as if they were young lovers. We were all taken aback. They had forgotten all but themselves in the world.

A fairish, discontented-looking girl came up to us.

"Gee, I wish ma'd make a break-away soon!" she said. "She's ben kind of crazy since Tom's letter come. I can't do a thing with little Sim; he yells to beat the band if his grandma don't rock him bye-bye."

Vigorous and Profane.

"You say your article has caused vigorous comment. Why, I didn't know it had been published."

"It hasn't. But it kept the people in the adjoining flats awake while I was pounding it off on the typewriter."

Mrs. James Primm visited friends and relatives in Beloit Wednesday.

To Be an Orator.

The Rev. Daniel J. Mannix, archbishop of Australia, gave some sensible advice to all young men who aspire to be public speakers. He said he had always desired to be a great orator, but he found that he could not, and now he no longer strives toward this object. He advises all who aim at a profession wherein they must seek to influence others by their voice, "not to aim for oratorical elegance, but to simply make their language mirror their thought. Do not exaggerate," he continues. "Use critical judgment." The greatest public speakers are not those who impress you with the beauty of their performance, but those who convince you by their simplicity, directness and sincerity.—Seattle Post Intelligencer.

Real Democracy.

The purchases made by a large, heavy-set woman apparently of some property and social position, in a small Gratiot avenue shop the other day, go to prove that you never can tell. She asked firmly for a package of a well-known brand of chewing tobacco. When the shop dealer was unable to supply it, she unhesitatingly called for another brand, threw it into her shopping basket and started to leave. Then she spied a pile of magazines and asked for a certain radio publication. This, too, was unavailable, so she took a substitute. The tobacco may have been for her husband and the radio magazine for her son, but spectators watched her purchases with interest and surprise.—Detroit News.

HUMAN SACRIFICES IN ASSAM

Attempt by Government to Abolish a Common Evil Has Met With Much Opposition.

The report on the efforts made by the government to suppress slavery and human sacrifice in the Naga hills shows, according to Mr. Clayton, who was recently commissioner on the northeastern frontier of Burma, that last year there were 271 slaves in Lkhamptu, as compared with 373 in the previous year. The reduction was mainly due to release of slaves, writes Henri Rickard in the Cincinnati Enquirer. Several cases have been reported of Indians being enticed by Nagas to work as blacksmiths, and being seized and sold into slavery in the Hukong valley, but only seven Indian slaves were found, of whom three were released, the others being content with their lot. An Indian man and a girl set apart for sacrifice by the Nagas were released.

The investigations showed that human sacrifice was much more common in the Naga hills than was supposed, there being no fewer than six boys and ten girls annually, and in plentiful years twenty boys and thirty girls kidnapped from Assam. These were the commonest victims. The report states that an attempt to rescue slaves from sacrifice creates a vicious circle, in which a fantastic price is charged for a victim hoarded for a bigger and more expensive sacrifice. The report comes to the conclusion that the only solution appears to be direct government administration of the tracts where these hideous practices prevail.

Girl Stabbed, Body Found Under Culvert.

Miss Helen Drachman.

Miss Helen Drachman, 21, of Youngstown, Ohio, was found, murdered, under a railroad culvert near that city. She had been stabbed five times and her head tightly encased in a linen duster which had been tied about her neck. Miss Drachman had been missing for a week from the Young Women's Christian Association home, where she lived.

OBITUARY

Funeral For Mr. Ball

A large concourse of friends gathered Tuesday afternoon at the home of Oliver V. Ball, south of the city, to pay their last respects. The service was in charge of Rev. M. J. Grable. Mrs. Flora Dix sang two solos. The pall bearers were L. J. Noid, P. L. Reeves, John Snyder, Carey Snyder, Elwood Switzer and Clarence Huston. Interment was in Grandview cemetery near Sebring.

Among those from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Ross Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. George Hansen and Mrs. Flora D. Cleveland. Others were from Pittsburgh, Barberton, Youngstown, Lisbon and Washingtonville.

Monster.

Fossil skeleton of the largest prehistoric animal ever found is dug up in Patagonia, South America. It's a reptile of the dinosaur family. When it lumbered through the Mesozoic forests it was 140 feet long and at least 50 feet tall.

Pedestrians, less formidable, are struck down daily. Most auto accidents are due to eye carelessness and lack of fear.

WOULD GET OIL FROM COAL

British Scientist Points Out How the Country Can Procure Adequate Supplies of Fuel.

Great Britain could produce enough oil for its navy and merchant marine from home-mined coal if the necessary arose. This was revealed by Dr. C. H. Lander of the fuel research board at the recent meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

Production of oil from home resources is extremely important to Great Britain, since an almost complete substitution of oil for coal has taken place in the navy and is being gradually followed by the merchant marine. Although coal, peat and shale can be made to yield liquid fuel, coal alone can be regarded as a possible source from which sufficient quantities could be produced by practical methods.

A ton of average bituminous coal will yield 14 gallons of fuel oil, or about six per cent by weight of the raw material used. For every 1,000,000 tons of oil produced 16,000,000 tons of coal will be used, and will yield also 11,000,000 tons of coke and 56,000,000 cubic feet of rich hydrocarbon gas, so that if satisfactory low temperature process on carbonization proves feasible the 35,000,000 tons of coal used annually for domestic purposes would produce 2,100,000 tons of oil, more than the peace requirements of the navy, and leave an enormous amount of manufactured fuel, which it would be necessary to induce domestic consumers to use in place of raw coal.

NO CONSIDERATION AT ALL

Naturally, Young Lady Was Indignant at the Demand Made by "Gump" Behind Her.

Judge Gary said at a steel mill's banquet in New York:

"We are all selfish, of course—that's nature, but the selfishness of the old-fashioned, communistic class is something out of the ordinary.

"It reminds me of the young lady with the tall bunch of feathers in her hat. It was at the matinee, and a man behind her asked politely if she wouldn't take her hat off. She complied—she knew she had to, but she was careful to say to her companion in a loud, indignant voice that the man was sure to hear:

"'Ain't some people the selfish hogs? That gump asked me to take off my hat, and I was too much of a lady to refuse, of course; but wouldn't you think the darn old selfish pig might have known that holdin' the hat in my lap like this the feathers would be bound to come up above my eyes so I couldn't see nothin' at all of what was happening on the screen?'"

"Getting Back" at Witty One.

Boston's merchant prince, Edward A. Filene, contrives to find time for many nonbusiness activities. He undertakes and easily discharges no end of public duties; he is a leader in various movements; he is particularly interested in activities calculated to bring workers and employers closer together. Also he has a reputation as a public speaker. Here's a Filene anecdote, told as narrated—not by Mr. Filene—to me:

The toastmaster at a big dinner was eager to shine as a brilliant wit. This ambition led him to perpetrate several crude, not to say cruel, jokes. When he came to introducing Mr. Filene, he told the audience that Mr. Filene had attained wide fame as an after-dinner speaker. "In fact," he added, "all one has to do is to drop a dinner in the slot and up comes a speech from Mr. Filene."—Forbes Magazine.

Shaw Pulls Some Old Stuff.

There is a story told of George Bernard Shaw that when some one in the audience hissed his play, he said to the offender, "I perfectly agree with you, sir, but what are two against so many?"

Witty enough that, but not entirely original. In 1747, John Brown was invited to become pastor of a church at Hingham. There was one man opposed to his appointment who said that he liked Mr. Brown's person and manner but disapproved of his preaching.

"Then," said Mr. Brown, "we are agreed. I do not like my preaching very well myself, but how great a folly it is for you and me to set up our opinion against that of the whole parish."—Boston Transcript.

Indian Fashion.

A woman who had been visiting in the West and who had seen many interesting Indians, bought some Indian dolls for her little Chicago friends.

The dolls were dressed in Indian fashion—shawl, colored handkerchief about head, moccasins, patchwork skirt and hand-made stockings. When she got home she looked to see what kind of underwear the Indians had made for the Indian dolls, and every one of them wore a georgette chemise!

Must even fashions as well as modern civilization reach the Indians?—Chicago Journal.

Water in a Loaf of Bread.

One ton of water to three pounds of flour is nature's receipt for making wheat bread, according to figures on rainfall published by the bureau of soils of the Department of Agriculture.

By controlling the water supply in irrigation, accurate measurement is possible, and this estimate is of the minimum requirement. Many crops need five times as much water.

DEAF CAN HEAR SAYS SCIENCE

New Invention Aids Thousands

Here's good news for all who suffer from deafness. The Dictograph Products Corporation announces the perfection of a remarkable device which has enabled thousands of deaf persons to hear as well as ever. The makers of this wonderful device say it is too much to expect you to believe this so they are going to give you a chance to try it at home. They offer to send it by prepaid parcel post on a ten-day free trial. They do not send it C. O. D.—they require no deposit—there is no obligation. They send it entirely at their own expense and risk. They are making this extraordinary offer well knowing that the magic of this little instrument will so amaze and delight the user that the chances of its being returned are very slight. Thousands have already accepted this offer and report most gratifying results. There is no longer any need that you should endure the mental and physical strain which comes from a constant effort to hear. Now you can mingle with your friends without that feeling of sensitiveness from which all deaf persons suffer. Now you can take your place in the social and business world to which your talents entitle you and from which your affliction has, in a measure, excluded you. Just send your name and address to The Dictograph Products Corporation, Suite 1322, 220 W. 42nd st., New York city.

THE GREAT SHIP NOW ON THE ROUTE

The largest and most costly steamer on inland waters of the world, the great ship "Seandee," with her sister ship "City of Buffalo," is now operating daily between Cleveland and Buffalo.

Travelers may leave Cleveland or Buffalo on C. & B. line steamers any evening at 9 (Eastern Standard time), enjoy a night of refreshing sleep on Lake Erie and arrive at destination following morning at 7:30.

Automobile tourists will find this a delightful way of relieving the monotony of long overland tours, and thousands of motorists each year make use of this "save a day" car-by-steamer service.

Railroad tickets reading between Cleveland and Buffalo (in either direction) are good for transportation on these steamers.

SMALL BEGINNINGS SHOW BIG RESULTS

Many great enterprises begin in a small way. Many a successful advertiser has begun by using classified advertisements in a modest way. These brought good returns, which enabled the business to be developed, and eventually large advertisements were profitably made. Intelligent use of the little ad in The Salem News either as an advertiser or reader will prove

WROUGHT WONDERS IN STONE

Work of Architects of the Twelfth Century Stand as a Challenge to the World.

The most laboriously wrought stone carving in the world, the temple of Chenna Kesava, at Belur, India, was built in the Twelfth century to celebrate the conversion to Vishnuism of a Jain ruler. Fergusson says of this particular temple: "The amount of labor which each particular facet of this porch displays is such as never was bestowed on any surface of equal extent in any building in the world."

Another masterpiece of sculptured stone, at Hullabid, India, ten miles from Belur, is greatly ruined now, and many of its gems have been removed to the museum at Bangalore. When intact it was the finest specimen of Indian art in existence. This column is one of the most marvelous exhibitions of human labor to be found even in the patient East—far surpasses anything in Gothic art. The effects are said to be just what the medieval architects were aiming at, but which they never attained so perfectly as was done at Hullabid. Fergusson further says, placing the Hullabid temple and the Parthenon in Athens as the two extremes of architecture: "It would be possible to arrange all the buildings of the world between these two extremes, as they tended toward the severe intellectual purity of the one or the playful, exuberant fancy of the other; but perfection, if it existed, would be somewhere near the mean."

Serum for Snake Bites.

Sixty drops of venom, which will form the basis of a serum to cure snake bites, were milked from 33 copperhead and moccasin snakes in the Bronx zoo, New York. Experiments in Brazil, establishing that whisky is no remedy for snake bites, have led to an increased demand for serum.

Groups of sober animals and groups of intoxicated ones were bitten by snakes in the experiments. The sober ones outlived the drunks by five or six hours, indicating that the increased circulation due to alcohol speeded up the work of the poison.

Serum has been delivered by airplane in response to radio calls, and is infallible as a cure if injected within six hours, according to Director Dittmars of the Bronx zoo.

Looking-Glass Country.

According to a copy of the Russian Journal, Ekonomise Heskala Zizu, which has just been received at Paris by a French socialist, the editors offer a month's subscription for 1,200,000 rubles. For a two-months' subscription the price is 3,000,000 rubles. The apparent paradox is explained by a note saying that the difference in price for the first and second month's subscription is due to the estimated depreciation of the ruble in the next four weeks. The amount of this depreciation is so uncertain, however, that subscription prices cannot be quoted more than two months in advance.—New York Times.

"Little Mothers" Work in Shifts.
Youngsters who use the wide plaza in front of City hall as a playground in the evenings have adopted a system that makes lighter the task of those who look after babies. Under the system one youngster will herd a group of about twenty or twenty-five wards on the steps and keep them amused and safe for 15 minutes or so. Then she is relieved in turn by another.

Of course, the system doesn't always run along smoothly. There are quarrels about time and turn of work, but for the most part it enables all the East side "little mothers" to get in a turn at playing and roller skating without neglecting their little broods.—New York Sun.

Insects which spend most of their lives in a torpid or semi-torpid condition are seldom injured and never killed by being frozen. There are numerous instances of travelers in mountain regions having found beetles and butterflies above the snow line which were stiff, frozen and apparently dead. When carried down to the warmer air in the valley, however, they revived in a very short time.

COMING—A New Paramount Picture
GLORIA SWANSON in "MY AMERICAN WIFE"

There's nothing like a long, invigorating walk to make a person feel good—but there's no use trying to walk in shoes that hurt your feet. Nor should you try to walk in shoes that are not made for walking.

In the first place, it's injurious to the feet and health, and you cannot expect shoes that are made for dress wear to stand the hard use that walking shoes get. For both health's and economy's sake, you should have a strong pair of oxfords, fitted so that they are absolutely comfortable. Then 'twill be a pleasure to "walk and be healthy."

BLACKBURN ARRIVES HOME FROM RUSSIA

New Waterford Man Spends Year Training Russian Peasants.

New Waterford, June 13.—(Spl.)—Mr. and Mrs. Earl McCune went to Toledo last Thursday night, returning Saturday afternoon with their Overland sedan. They spent Friday night in Wooster.

Willard Blackburn arrived home June 7 after spending the past year in Russia where he was engaged in the work of relief and reconstruction under the auspices of the Friends Service committee of Philadelphia. He helped train the Russian peasant in the use of the tractor for plowing, etc. He was also engaged in repairing autos and tractors, starting a machine shop so the Russians could learn for themselves.

Free Clinic Thursday
New Waterford will have a free clinic all day Thursday if the need is sufficient to warrant that much time. Four surgeons and four nurses are to be in charge including the county health officer and nurse. The clinic is to be held in the basement of the Community hall and several of the New Waterford women will assist. Lunch will be served at Mrs. Staley's.

In Serious Condition
Mrs. Frank Cope is very ill at her home north of town and no hopes are entertained for her recovery. She was stricken last Wednesday night with paralysis of the throat and has never regained consciousness.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiel Holl spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Smith near East Palestine.

Miss Carrie Fessler spent the weekend with Miss Thelma Herbert of East Palestine.

Jesse Bowers and family, Earl Bowers and family and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bowers attended the Bowers reunion at Willow Grove grange hall near Salem Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Eells spent Sunday in Rogers attending Children's day exercises at the Christian church in the morning and the K of P. memorial services in the afternoon. They dined at the home of their son, E. M. Eells.

Overholzer-Sampson
Two of New Waterford's prominent young people went on a hurried trip to New Cumberland, W. Va., last Saturday and when they returned they were ready for the congratulations of their friends. Robert Sampson and Miss Dorothy Overholzer are the happy couple. Both are employed at the Franklin Furniture company's plant here and will continue there for the present. They were given a wedding Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dildine of Seewickley, Pa., spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Dildine.

Mrs. Will Fessler entertained the Columbia Social Matrons at her home on the Palestine rd this afternoon.

Mrs. Prudence Volnogie returned home Monday morning from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Phillips of Allegheny. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips drove over with her returning home the same day.

Attend Cattle Sale
George Miller, Edward Candel, James Candel, James Hanna and Charles Lemley returned on Friday from Cleveland where they attended a consignment sale of Holstein cattle which was held on Thursday and Friday.

Stanton Thomas of Winona visited at the home of his son Oscar a few days last week.

Mrs. Susan Hauptman of Cleveland arrived in New Waterford on Saturday. She will spend the summer with her sister, Mrs. Chalm.

The Men's meeting of last Sunday night was addressed by Rev. Staley who took as his subject, "Four Bells And All Is Well," enlarging on the voyage of life and its responsibilities.

The next meeting of the men will be the Community festival to be held June 22 and to which they invite the women and children and the community in general to be their guests. R. J. Barrow of Columbiana will lead the singing of the good old songs. On June 24 Rev. C. E. Krumm will be the speaker of the evening.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. W. T. Hawkins.

The Standard Bearers of the Methodist church will hold their annual Thank offering service at the church at 8 p. m. next Sunday. A special program will be given.

Rev. and Mrs. Staley spent a few days this week with Mr. Staley's mother in Youngstown.

Walter Beatty of Detroit spent a Mrs. Bertha Kurtz.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Seachrist attended the Cherry Fork school in the old Festerly grove west of Columbiana Saturday.

Haughty Capitalist.
The laboring man of 70 years ago was pretty well satisfied. Labor troubles in this country were almost unheard of then, though at frequent intervals an employee would find a grievance against his employer. That of the machinist whom Mr. A. B. Farquhar tells of in his book "The First Million the Hardest" is certainly amusing, viewed at this date.

One afternoon, says Mr. Farquhar, a machinist came to us in high dudgeon from another shop and asked for a job. We wanted to know, of course, why he had left his old place.

"It was this way," he said. "The boss was out walking with a lady the other night, and I passed him and said, 'How do you do, Harry?' And the next day he came around to me and said, 'When I am out walking with a lady in the evening I don't want you to speak to me.' I don't work for a man who gets that way."—Youth's Companion.

THE BEST THE FARMS PRODUCE

By WALTER W. HEAD
First Vice-President, American Bankers Association

Walter W. Head

Every banker and business man in the country is interested in the farm from another viewpoint than merely a place to raise farm products and livestock. Above all the farm is one of the places where we can best bring up our boys and girls.

Thousands of men and boys each year are flocking to the city. Clerks in the city are barely eking out an existence and they cannot expect to receive much more in the way of compensation. But back on the farms are men working for a reasonable return, and in addition they have their houses, the wonderful sunshine above in the daytime, the wonderful fresh air and all the things that the soil produces. The boy who is raised on the farm will have an entirely different aspect of life and approach the various problems with which he has to deal in later years in a different way from the boy who is raised in the city.

In this period of unrest we are certainly vitally interested in rearing both on the farms and in the cities boys and girls with the proper outlook for the future, imbued with the belief that the activity in which they are engaged is, after all, something that will provide them both with the necessary things of life and with happiness. For in happiness there is contentment, and in contentment in America there is safety for our institutions.

Every single banker should feel that the problems his farmer customers have to contend with are not only the farmer's problems but his problems as well. He should feel not only that the farmer must be prosperous so that he can deposit more in his bank, giving the banker more to loan and thereby increasing his profits, but that also there is something which cannot be measured in dollars and cents. It is the thought of rendering such service to their customers—regardless of whether they are farmers, or men working in the shops, or big business men of the cities—that will bring not only prosperity but contentment as well. The banker should take as his motto: "Who serves best profits most."

Co-operative Marketing

Agriculture produces enough to feed the people the year around but some of this production should be stored to eliminate the over supply at the times of harvest or during periods of high production. It can then be thrown upon the market in accordance with consumptive demands.

Co-operative marketing is still in its infancy. In a few localities where farmers have been properly organized and provided themselves with adequate facilities to store their products they have been able to considerably stabilize prices, to the advantage of both producer and consumer.

Farmers are looking for a scientific merchandising basis upon which to market their products. It is extremely important that they organize rightly on the commodity basis and secure efficient capable management and adequate financing. This cannot be done in a day, a week, or a month, nor in five or even ten years. It must be by gradual growth and development. The problem is so important it demands the best thought of not only farmers but educators, bankers and other business men.—Banker-Farmer.

OUTLOOK FOR OHIO FRUIT EXCELLENT

Columbus, June 13.—Present conditions of this apple, peach and other fruit crops indicate a 75 per cent, or three-quarter crop this year in Ohio, according to Statistician West of the state federal crop reporting service today. Blackberry and raspberry prospects are good, he said.

"The outlook for fruit this year is much above last year for the condition a year ago was 60 per cent. Two years ago the condition estimate was 33 per cent. The crop of summer apples will, probably, not be so large as last year because fewer buds were set after last year's heavy crop of early apples," West declared.

Amendment To Dry Seas Ruling Will Be Up To Congress

Washington, June 13.—Although government will proceed with the rigid enforcement of the supreme court's dry seas ruling because it has no other choice in the matter, President Harding and other officials do not believe that the international complications growing out of such enforcement were foreseen by congress in enacting the Volstead law it was stated officially at the White House after the cabinet meeting.

So long as the law remains as it is, however, the treasury department and the department of justice will continue to enforce it, according to the "Safety Last"

No one will be able to question the fact that Harold Lloyd performs his own "thrill stunts" in the seven-reel, hair raising Pathe-comedy, "Safety Last," which comes to the High school auditorium Wednesday to Saturday, with matinee Saturday, for in practically every scene in the picture Lloyd's face shows on the screen.

Thrills with frills and chills are promised, with the spectacular comedian performing the difficult task of climbing the side of a 12-story building and reaching the roof after overcoming the most hilarious and fearful hazards. And, although suffering part of the time from a dislocated shoulder, Harold declined to use a "double" at any stage of the production. Indeed, it will not require a close inspection to disclose this fact.

"Safety Last," however, is not all thrills. The first part contains the most wholesome and amusing comedy moments and incidents that Harold Lloyd has ever put on the screen. In his role of a department store clerk the spectacled comedian is absolutely at his best. He is the rollicking youth of "A Sailor Made Man"—just Harold Lloyd, "himself."

The production contains one of the most delightful love stories ever screened, with Mildred Davis, of course, being the young lady in the case. As the worshipping young man, Harold Lloyd puts all the famous screen lovers to shame and mingles sentiment with comedy in a most charming manner. "Safety Last" can be truly said to be the greatest comedy ever produced.

HELP FOR EXPECTANT MOTHERS

Many Cases Reported of Women Being Kept in a Normal, Healthy Condition by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mothers transmit to their children the blessings of a healthy constitution. How important, therefore, for the child, as well as for the mother, that she should carefully guard her health during the trying pre-natal period. Preparation for a healthy maternity is accomplished by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as evidenced by the following letters:

Trenton, N. J.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before childbirth on the advice of my mother for nervousness and weakness. I was irritable, cranky and easily worried. Housework seemed so hard, and at times I was really unfit to do it. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound overcame this condition, my nervousness disappeared and I felt like a different person entirely, and I hope this letter will lead other women who are in this condition to try it."—Mrs. L. That "Minimum Service" Charge

WHILE the family's away this summer, and you're on the road or living at some hotel, you may wonder why you get an electric bill every month as usual, with a charge for "minimum service."

If you're a business man, however, you'll understand "capital invested" in meters and equipment, and "overhead" on the wages of meter readers and clerical force who must examine and record your meter reading every thirty days as long as the meter remains on your premises.

Then too, electric service must be maintained, ready for instant use day or night, should you or the family return unexpectedly. If you've ever groped your way into a dark, deserted house, you know something about the convenience of an instant flood of light. That 75c a month "minimum service" charge insures current ready and waiting for the press of the button.

AFFECTS USERS OF NATURAL GAS

Federal Supreme Court's Decision Favors Ohioans.

WEST VIRGINIA LAW INVALID

Act Would Have Prohibited the Exportation of Natural Gas From the Mountain State—Referendum on Taft Tax Law Appears Certain. Number of Persons Filing Income Tax Returns in Ohio Cities.

Columbus, June 13.—A decision affecting nearly every large town in Ohio and half of the state's consumers of natural gas has just been rendered by the United States Supreme Court. The court holds the Steptoe gas act passed by the West Virginia legislature to be unconstitutional. The law, passed in 1919, provided that no natural gas should be exported or piped from West Virginia into adjoining states until every domestic demand had been filled. After passage of the bill, the Ohio general assembly adopted a resolution directing Attorney General Price to institute proceedings to have the bill declared unconstitutional because it endangered Ohio's natural gas supply.

Price brought suit in United States Supreme Court. Similar action was instituted by the state of Pennsylvania. Both cases were combined for hearing by the Supreme Court, which granted a temporary injunction to restrain West Virginia from putting the law into effect, and a master commissioner was appointed to take testimony. Hearing of the testimony occupied nearly a year.

Had the constitutionality of the bill been upheld, Toledo, Cincinnati, Akron, Cleveland, Columbus, Youngstown, Dayton and other Ohio cities which obtain the greater part of their gas from West Virginia fields, would have been shut off from practically their entire source of supply.

Attack on the Steptoe act was based on the contention that it was an interference with interstate traffic and that the state of West Virginia had no authority to restrain the exportation of gas to other states.

"The decision of the Supreme Court is a great victory for the state of Ohio," declared Attorney General Crabbe. "Naturally we are delighted at the outcome of the case and the decision which put an end to the danger that nearly three-fourths of Ohio's gas supply would be cut off."

John R. McCrehen, president of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards, announced that preparations for a referendum on the Taft and Albaugh bills will be begun without delay. The special committee appointed last week by the executive committee of the association reported in favor of a referendum and circulation of petitions for the necessary number of signatures to call a referendum will be started at once, McCrehen said.

"The purpose of the referendum is to force the adoption of some method of taxation which will relieve the unjust proportion which now is borne by real estate. We will organize the home owners and taxpayers of this state until some means is arrived at to secure the payment of a just proportion from intangible wealth," McCrehen declared. "So much pressure was brought to bear by home owners, farmers and taxpayers from all parts of the state that it was apparent to the committee that the action of the general assembly on matters of taxation did not meet with public approval."

The Uniform Rule organization of Ohio and the Cornstalk club, the latter composed of rural members of the state house of representatives, will assist the referendum movement.

This is indicated by A. P. Sandles, former secretary of agriculture, who is in receipt of letters from various uniform rule advocates urging that the Uniform Rule league, of which Sandles is secretary, take the initiative in the referendum. A meeting has been called for next Friday afternoon at the Southern hotel. Sandles characterized the Taft tax law as the "most costly act ever enacted by any one general assembly in the history of Ohio."

A series of recommendations by the board of visitors of the Ohio State University association which would tend to keep ill-prepared high school pupils from entering the university aroused a wave of protest at the annual meeting of the association here. The recommendations, five in number, were presented by Frank M. Raymond, Columbus, chairman of the board of visitors, who declared it "high time that Ohio State began working for quality rather than quantity in its student body."

Some alumni sensed an indirect slap at university athletics in a proposal that "all university organizations desist from intensive campaigns to increase the freshman attendance at the university." A motion to adopt the recommendations failed. Instead the report was referred to the board of directors of the association for further consideration.

In presenting the report, Mr. Raymond declared that the increasing number of students who fall in their studies and leave the university discouraged will be the means of lowering the standards of the university unless active measures are adopted to remedy the situation. "We all know that the mortality of students is high," he asserted. "I believe that with our institution as crowded as it is each year it is time to quit advertising for more students, but to go out and get the best."

Other recommendations of the board of visitors were: That parents where possible, send their children to one of the many excellent smaller colleges in Ohio for at least one year of work where they can obtain more personal attention;

That the state superintendent of education devise some adequate plan of grading high schools and bringing the poorer ones up to standard;

That the university faculty consider the possibility of lifting freshmen earlier in their first quarter and of providing additional preparations for those not qualified for college; and

That the officials investigate in this connection the results obtained by the board of regents of New York University in upholding educational requirements.

Formal opening of headquarters of the newly formed League of Ohio Sportsmen, on the second floor of the Rowlands building, Broad and Third streets, in this city, was attended by sportsmen from all parts of the state. The league was organized to promote more sportsmanlike methods of taking game and fish; to advance the protection and propagation of fish, game and song birds in the state of Ohio; to assist city, county, state and federal officials in the enforcement of fish and game laws; to eliminate pollution of water courses and prevent malicious destruction of property by hunters and fishermen; to bring about more friendly relations between sportsmen and landowners and to create an interest in the vital necessity for reforestation.

The offices of the organization give the impression of a sportsman's den. Heads of big game and antlers adorn the walls, and pictures of sportsmen and trophies they have won, give the offices an atmosphere of good sportsmanship.

Officials of the league are I. S. Myers, president, and A. C. Baxter, former chief of the Ohio State division of fish and game, executive secretary. J. W. Stuber, formerly assistant chief of the fish and game bureau, is editor of the league's official publication, "The Ohio Sportsman."

Don K. Martin, executive secretary of the Ohio Medical association, has given Governor Donahey another opportunity to "recant." "Self evident sophistry" is the term applied to some of the comments made by the governor in his reply to Martin's first letter, and allegations and arguments submitted in the first are reiterated in this latest "note."

The whole controversy concerns Governor Donahey's acquiescence in the wishes of a Portsmouth father that a chiropractor be released from jail long enough to treat his ailing child. The chiropractor was in jail for failure to pay a fine imposed for practicing without a license and the Ohio State Medical association took instant offense at the governor's action.

The first letter indited by Mr. Martin sought an explanation from the governor and inquired as to the truth of the published reports concerning the incident.

This third letter advises the chief executive that "if you desire to modify or reverse your recent pronouncements I will be glad to hear from you at your earliest convenience, in order that publication of our complete correspondence may be made in the forthcoming issue of the Ohio State Medical Journal."

The federal treasury department reports the number of persons filing income tax returns in various Ohio cities in 1921 as follows: Athens, 487; Barberton, 3,836; Bellaire, 1,099; Bellefontaine, 857; Bellevue, 673; Bowling Green, 343; Bucyrus, 932; Cambridge, 1,254; Chillicothe, 1,394; Cincinnati, 42,159; Circleville, 278; Cleveland, 62,175; Columbus, 24,500; Coshocton, 571; Dayton, 14,391; Defiance, 365; Delaware, 492; Delphos, 386; Dover, 642; East Liverpool, 2,370; Elyria, 4,193; Findlay, 1,173; Fostoria, 580; Fremont, 615; Gallon, 657; Gallipolis, 115; Girard, 1,267; Greenville, 432; Hamilton, 2,847; Ironton, 707; Jackson, 114; Kenmore, 672; Kent, 1,233; Kenton, 450; Lakewood, 5,175; Lancaster, 1,145; Lima, 3,058; Logan, 348; Lorain, 6,767; Mansfield, 2,398; Marietta, 1,170; Marion, 1,877; Middletown, 1,755; Mt. TO RESUME WORK AT PRISON FARM

Donahey Would Rush Project
Through to Completion.

NAMES NEW PRISON BOARD

Governor to Deviate From Original Plans and Use Prison Labor to Rush the Work—Educational Train to Visit Agricultural Section of Ohio—Health Department Bureau to Be Rearranged.

Columbus, June 13.—Construction work at the state prison farm in Madison county will be resumed at an early date. This is indicated by Governor Donahey's action in naming a new prison commission. The principal desire of the governor is to begin work on the long-neglected project and rush it through to completion without further delay. Materials and supplies on the ground, including cut stone to the value of nearly $60,000, will be used to complete the administration building, on which $194,136 has already been spent, but which is roofless and with only a small part of the wall up. It will be used as a dormitory for prisoners and administration offices will complete the central group. Wooden structures now housing the prisoners there will be abandoned as soon as the new building can be utilized.

Governor Donahey has indicated that he will deviate in no small degree from the original plans, and will use prison labor to rush the work. Original plans called for a marble interior for the administration building. The marble is still unpurchased and the governor has announced that he will use brick instead, effecting a big saving thereby. The state has its own brick manufacturing plant.

To date the state has expended approximately $575,000 on the entire prison farm project, out of a total of $1,250,000 appropriated by the assembly since 1912. Work was stopped by Governor Davis, who disapproved the plans which had been indorsed by the general assembly in the administration of Governor James M. Cox.

Much of the material, including cut stone and steel trusses, has been exposed to weather in the two and a half years since the work was stopped, but according to Engineer Youngblood a large share of it can be salvaged.

The new prison commission is composed of H. S. Riddle, Columbus, Republican; George L. Williams, Cleveland, Republican; John B. Youngblood, Columbus; and Foss F. Walker, Akron, Democrat. Williams is a hold-over from the old commission, which served under Governor Harry L. Davis. He consented to remain on the commission at the request of the governor. Riddle is a former member of the commission and also served on the old board of administration. Youngblood is consulting engineer for the department of welfare, and Walker is business manager of the Akron Times.

Retiring members are E. C. Shaw, Akron, and B. J. Wilberding, Cleveland, Republicans, and Dr. I. B. Harris, Columbus, Democrat. Harris was asked to remain on the commission, but declined because he believes he can not give sufficient time to the work.

Ohio grange officials announced that the Pennsylvania Railroad company, co-operating with national and state granges and other farm organizations, has completed plans for running a special educational train through the agricultural and stock raising parts of the Union. The train will consist of 11 cars and will carry a number of taxation and agricultural experts, as well as transportation and traffic men, who will speak from the train in the various towns along the route.

A transportation museum car, carrying "Old 999" early locomotive and working models of practically every type of locomotive ever used in the United States, will be a feature of the train. Two complete sets of moving picture paraphernalia, including apparatus to be used in making films, will be carried on the trip and pictures showing the relationship of transportation and agriculture will be taken, according to C. A. Dyer of the Ohio state grange. The pictures to be shown include scenes of stock, fruit, produce and grain loading and are designed to teach shippers the proper way to utilize car space and ship cheaply and safely.

The train will be started from Cleveland June 18, and the itinerary includes 54 stops in Ohio towns. The schedule is: June 18, Berea, Wellington, Shelby; June 19, Gallon, Delaware; June 20, Columbus; June 21, London, Springfield; June 22, Marysville, Dayton; June 23, Miamisburg, Middletown; June 24, Cincinnati; June 25, Urbana, Bellefontaine, Marion; June 26, Sidney, Versailles, Troy; June 27, Franklin, Greenville, Lewisburg; June 28, Lima, Van Wert, Paulding; June 29, Bryan, Wauseon, Swanton; June 30, Toledo; July 1, Oak Harbor, Port Clinton; July 3, Sandusky, Elyria; July 4, Oberlin, Norwalk; July 5, Bellevue, Clyde, Fremont; July 6, Bowling Green, Findlay; July 7, Kenton, Wapakoneta, St. Marys; July 8, New Lexington, Zanesville; July 9, Johnstown, Mt. Gilead; July 11, Bucyrus, Fostoria; July 12, Painesville, Geneva; July 13, Ashtabula, Jefferson; July 14, Youngstown and Sharon, Pa.

Governor Donahey made reply to the criticism of physicians with regard to his action in permitting the release of a jailed chiropractor long enough to treat a sick child at Portsmouth.

In a letter to Don K. Martin, executive secretary of the Ohio state medical association, the governor admits that a Portsmouth newspaper correctly quoted him in saying that if he were sheriff he would not only permit the little girl to be treated at the jail but would permit the chiropractor to go to the girl's home for the treatments.

Commenting on statements in the Martin letter citing rules and ethics, as well as legal provisions governing the medical profession, the governor says: "I wish that all persons licensed to treat the sick and disabled might have a thorough knowledge of diagnosis, as you say they should have. If there are any such persons they should by agreement distribute themselves equally among the people of the world for the good of humanity."

The chief executive assured Mr. Martin that he agreed with him heartily in most instances cited in the latter's communication, but took emphatic exception to one statement Martin had ventured when he declared that the governor had just as much right to authorize bootleggers, serving jail terms, to look after the beverage wants of their thrifty customers, as he had to release the chiropractor.

With reference to legal points raised by Martin on the liability of the sheriff for disregarding the law by releasing the chiropractor, Governor Donahey advises Mr. Martin to "consult an attorney."

The National Newspaper Executives' association, which has selected Columbus for its 1924 meeting, is composed of prominent newspaper heads in both the United States and Canada. The invitation to come to Columbus was extended at the association's final session at Atlantic City by Harvey C. Young, advertising manager of the Columbus Dispatch and a director in the organization. The 1924 convention will probably be held some time next June and will bring 300 newspaper men here for a three-day session. Problems pertaining to the editorial and business management of newspapers will be discussed.

The case of William H. McGannon, former chief justice of Cleveland municipal court, and who was received at the Ohio penitentiary, June 1, 1922, on a charge of perjury, will be investigated more thoroughly by the state parole and pardon board, as indicated when the judge's case was brought before the board for the first time, he having served his minimum time. McGannon was sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary on a charge of perjury in connection with the case of Harold Kagy, who was killed in Cleveland, May 8, 1920.

Youth Establishes County Egg Production Record

Young men of this county who are interested in poultry husbandry are causing many older folk to take a back seat when egg production and raising of flocks are concerned. The state record for egg production came mighty near coming to Columbiana county recently, and although Walter Rupert of near New Waterford failed by .005 of one per cent in winning the state record, he came in second.

It was a Union county youth who beat Rupert out of the state record but this chap had very little to crow over after the records of the official test were announced. At the county fair last September, Rupert pulled down third prize in the poultry class. He was defeated by Richard Speidel of Hanoverton and Wilford Anderson of the Cox Highway, near Unity.

Young Rupert is a Rhode Island Red fancier, and he is now stacking up against the best poultrymen in Ohio. His egg production record is declared by poultry fanciers to be the best ever attained in this county. Commands Attention

Young Anderson, who pulled down second prize at the last county fair and whose efforts have commanded the attention of the Poultry department of Ohio State university, has not been long in the game, but he is more than making good.

Anderson has built during the last season four brooder houses and one large hen house. Early in the spring he bought 2,067 day-old chicks and of this lot 62 died and rats got away with 20 more. These chicks are now four weeks old, and are doing fine. Young Anderson believes that he has passed the danger line, and that when he culls the roosters from this flock, he will have perhaps 1,500 pullets on hand when the laying season opens.

But the record of Richard Speidel of near Hanoverton is just as interesting as that of Rupert and Anderson. These young men do all the work themselves, when it comes to rearing their flock and building brooders and laying houses. Speidel took first prize last year in egg production, and this year he is contending with Rhode Island Reds.

Success in Incubating

Instead of buying chicks Speidel is having considerable success incubating. To take care of his young flock he built a 10x12-foot brooder house.

He has a 500-egg capacity incubator, and this he ran off three times. Because of the size of eggs varying, young Speidel was able to use 1,500 eggs in the three incubator runs. From these he hatched 1,186 chicks. He sold from this hatch 370 day-old chicks, and has lost only 25 and he has now 791 birds, seven weeks old, and weighing on an average of 14 pounds each. He expects to have more than 500 pullets after the roosters have been culled.

Enormous losses have been suffered by poultry raisers this season on account of failure of eggs to hatch. During the testing periods eggs have been proven fertile, but they have failed to hatch. Many reasons have been assigned for this, "death in the shell." Instances have been related in this county where incubators failed to hatch an egg although every egg placed in the incubator showed fertility when tested on the seventh and 14th day.

The chilly weather of April is attributed by many as the reason for poor hatches later. Eggs perhaps became chilled and then when placed in the incubator proved worthless in the end.

The golfing season saw great increases both in the professional and amateur ranks, golfers of Canada. There are 250 golf clubs in Canada, with more than 200,000 members. Toronto still holds sway as the golfing center with a total of 17 clubs. Winnipeg is second, with 13. Montreal third with 12. Vancouver has seven, Calgary six and Victoria, Windsor, Hamilton and Ottawa three each. Millions were spent during 1922 on courses and there is hardly a city or town in Canada where the golfer can not enjoy the game.

Throughout South America French is almost universally read; editions of the classics are in most homes, and book stores are filled with modern French writers of prose or verse, both in translation and in the original.

A VICTORY FOR AMERICAN MOTORISTS

The Crude Rubber Monopoly weakened when it came into contact with aroused public sentiment. The press of the country today reflects the determination of the American motorist that tire prices shall stay at a reasonable level—and that America must produce its own rubber.

Firestone
CUTS TIRE PRICES

EFFECTIVE JUNE 11

We announce a 10% reduction in tires and tubes effective June 11th. The lowered cost of crude rubber and the special Firestone manufacturing and distribution advantages make this possible.

Firestone factories are organized on a basis of large volume and effective production. Costs are down but quality is at its peak. Stockholder workmen are daily building many thousands of Gum-Dipped Cords—the best tire Firestone ever produced and, we believe, the leader on the market today.

Firestone Cords took the first four places and eight of the ten money positions in the Indianapolis Sweepstakes, May 30th, without a single tire failure.

Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords have set new standards in mileage, traction, comfort and safety. Car owners have expressed their approval of the extra value in Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords by increasing their purchases 104% in the past six months.

We have replaced many expensive branches with warehouses. We now have our distributing points which are delivering Firestone tires to the consumer at the lowest cost in our history.

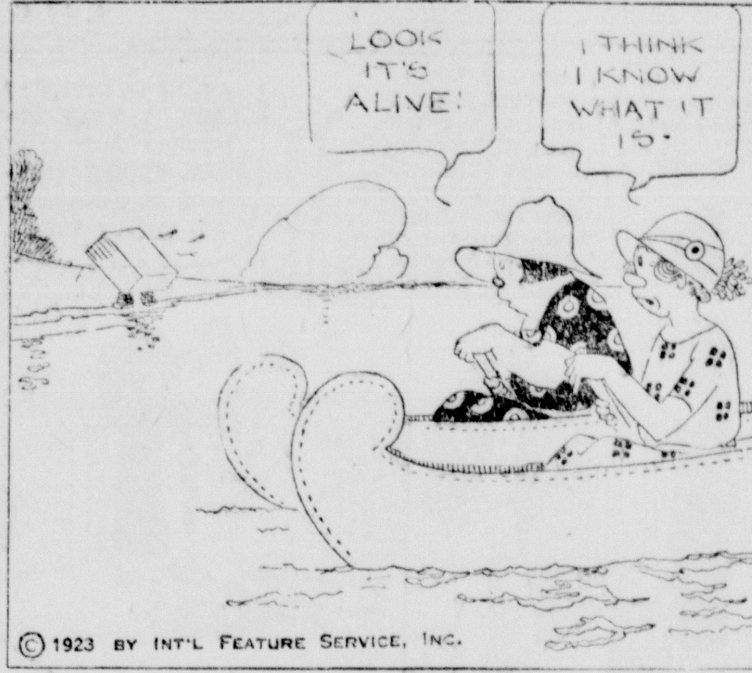

Follow the tide of economical tire buying—equip with Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords and learn what Most Miles per Dollar means to you today.

MAHONING GRANGE PICNIC INCLUDES RACES, CONTESTS

Annual Outing To Be Held July 28 At Canfield Fair Grounds.

Every live granger in Mahoning county will have a chance at a prize at the annual grange picnic, which will be held under the auspices of the Mahoning County Pomona grange Saturday, July 28, at the Canfield fair grounds.

There will be six general prizes as follows: Family with the largest number of children on the grounds; oldest couple; newest married couple; youngest baby; most dilapidated Ford and a tug of war.

The rest of the prizes will be divided so that men, women, boys and girls of various ages will have classes but all contestants must be grangers or belong to families in which there are grange members. One special prize, a surprise, will be announced the day of the picnic.

Following are the classes, the definite articles or amounts of money to be announced later, when the list is completed by the solicitation of merchants all over the county:

Men's Contests
Horseshoe pitching, limited to two teams from each grange, players to bring regulation shoes. Regular rules will prevail. Pipe race, each contestant carrying a baseball diamond, starting from the home plate with the bowl of a pipe. He is to get the stem at the first base, the tobacco at the second, while a match is to be provided at the third base and he is to have his pipe lighted when he reaches home base. There will be a wheelbarrow race, flat man's race for men over 200 pounds, 75-yard sprint, baldheaded men's race.

Women's Contests
The women will participate in a nail driving contest, each lady to bring her hammer; a 37-yard trot; overshoot race, in which they will wear men's overshoes. The lady with the smallest feet will receive a handsome prize. One of the novelties for the ladies will be a time race. The judges will decide, without announcing it, the time in which the race shall be run, and the lady getting to the end nearest to the decided time will win.

Boys' Contests
The lads from 16 to 20 will compete in a 100-yard rush; three-legged race; centipede race, with five in a team.

The boys from 12 to 16 will participate in a 75-yard dash; kangaroo race, with five men on a team, and a chicken chase.

Those from 9 to 12 will go in the 50-yard run, cracker eating contest, and a potato race.

The boys from 6 to 9 will have their choice of a 25-yard dash potato race and animal race.

The boys under six can enter the 15-yard dash, peanut grab and animal race, run on all fours.

For women under 20, there will be a bobbed hair race, backward race and nail driving contest.

Girls from 12 to 16 will have a potato race. In the sewing contest, they will be furnished buttons, cloth, needles and thread, and the one sewing a button in the least time and most workmanlike manner wins. There will also be a 50-yard time race.

Girls 9 to 12 will have a peanut race 25-yard dash, and a candy race. Girls 6 to 9 may enter a peanut hunt, 25-yard dash and lollipop race. For girls under six there will be a 15-yard dash, peanut grab and egg and spoon race.

GREAT SERVICES GO UNRECOGNIZED

ARMY AND NAVY OFFICERS ARE THE VICTIMS OF THE INDIFFERENCE OF CONGRESS

DENIED THE RANK THEY EARN

Law Makers Seemingly Are More Influenced by the Propaganda of Societies That Strive to Disarm Completely the United States.

Washington.—Secretary of War Weeks, in a recent speech at San Diego, Cal., said: "I wish it were possible for the War department to promote one, two or three officers each year for outstanding conspicuous service."

The secretary has no illusions. He probably knows, as other officials of government know, and as the victims of indifference know, that so long as present day propaganda against the army and navy and against the safety of the country is allowed to continue unchecked and almost unchallenged, no man who dared all to do his duty can hope for any recognition.

Army officers and navy officers say nothing about these things. Those who have earned recognition and never have been given it necessarily are silent. Their comrades, who know what the deserving have done, cannot speak publicly because their words would be construed as criticism of congress and would subject them to punishment for daring, American citizen-like, to speak their minds.

There are on the retired list today army officers who commanded armies during the World war. Their rank as army commanders should have been that of general, but they were denied while on active service the right to a rank which all other countries gave to army chieftains. When these officers retired from active service, having reached the age limit, congress denied to them the additional grade on the retired list which it had granted to every retiring officer who had seen service in other wars.

Pershing the One Exception.

The only American soldier who came out of the World war with a fixed rank higher than that of a major general is John J. Pershing. Bullard and Liggett, who were lieutenant generals temporarily during the conflict, are today major generals, one retired and the other still active.

Joseph T. Dickman, accounted by some the greatest soldier which went to France, is today on the retired list as a major general. He commanded successively a division, a corps, and an army, and commanded them all while holding the rank of major general, for although his achievements won him recognition and promotion of command, he was denied the promotion in rank. So it was that as a major general he commanded an army, and when the day came for his retirement congress declined to give to him an additional grade.

On the retired list today is Col. Wilds P. Richardson, who commanded the American troops at Archangel, Russia, where his army superiors said he performed one of the great achievements of the war. He was specially selected for this duty because of his knowledge of northern peoples. His campaign, his superiors say, was brilliant. In fact it was one that saved a situation. Congress declined to make Richardson a brigadier general on his retirement although he had held that rank during the World war. Only one or two instances have been given of neglect of the American people to recognize even in a small way the service which devoted men rendered them. To men who know the circumstances in these cases the neglect seems nothing short of gross.

Congress Listens to Propagandists.

Responsibility for this refusal of congress to give the slightest recognition to army men who have won it probably is directly attributable to the activities throughout the country of various organizations which are striving to put the United States into a complete state of disarmament. Certain propagandists seemingly hate not only the army and navy but the individual men thereof. It seemingly is a fact that congress has paid closer attention to the campaigning activities of these half Russian societies than it has to any plea which has been made to it by the voice of sturdy patriotism.

Years ago Theodore Roosevelt, while president, called attention to the fact that it virtually was impossible for the commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States to reward by proper promotion the high deed of any officer of either service. At that time President Roosevelt wanted to promote Capt. John J. Pershing to a majority. Under the law he could not do it. Therefore, he did the only thing that he could do in recognition of Pershing's service in the Philippines. He made him a brigadier general, promoting him over the heads of hundreds of his fellow officers. The president at that time could name anybody he chose to general rank. This was his sole authority in the matter of promotion.

TAX REFERENDUM PLAN APPROVED

Columbus, June 13.—The form of the petition calling for a referendum on Taft and Albaugh tax bills has been approved by Secretary of State Brown. It was submitted by John E. McCreche, president of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards.

Gov. Donahay, in a communication to D. S. Snyder, New Castle, Coshocton county, has offered his assistance in case the Uniform Rule league calls a referendum. He had previously made the same offer to the real estate league that the two organizations should favor the referendum.

More Royal Clinchers for 1923 United States Tires are Good Tires

THE U. S. Tire people took plenty of time in developing the Royal Clincher Cord.

When it was finally placed on sale there were no mistakes in it.

Last year we couldn't make Royal Clinchers fast enough.

Production for 1923 has been more than doubled.

But whenever and wherever you can get a Royal Clincher—take it.
